

Shoshana Elkins, LCSW

Shoshana Elkins is a licensed clinical social worker and has worked clinically with children, individuals and families for over 20 years. She holds degrees from the University of Arizona and Arizona State University. She is the Founder and Executive Director of Sequoia Springs Trauma Healing Center.

Shoshana clinically specializes in the treatment of trauma, addictions and eating disorders. She has been working clinically and in executive leadership in the Tucson community for over 20 years. Shoshana has helped develop programs for various organizations and treatment centers, and has worked to coordinate several community partnerships focused on multi-agency trauma programming between organizations to address the needs of individuals and families in conflict and transition.

Jennifer Isom, LAMFT

Jennifer Isom is a clinical therapist at Sequoia Springs Trauma Healing Center where she specializes in couples counseling and the treatment of complex trauma. She has over 20 years of experience in the public behavioral health system where she held a variety of positions both working directly with individuals and families and within administration. In addition to her therapy practice, Jennifer regularly presents in the community on vicarious trauma, trauma informed care and working with families who have a child on the autism spectrum.

Jennifer holds two advanced degrees earning a Master of Counseling from the University of Phoenix in 2008 and Master of Education with a specialty in behavior analysis from the University of Cincinnati in 2017. She is a founding member of the Southern Arizona Trauma Informed Network.

Greg Cassell, Clark County Fire Chief

Greg Cassell was appointed Fire Chief in 2015. A Las Vegas native, he began his career with the Clark County Fire Department (CCFD) in 1989. Throughout his career, Chief Cassell has held the ranks of firefighter/paramedic, fire engineer, fire captain, and battalion chief.

Chief Cassell holds two associate's degrees from the Community College of Southern Nevada, two bachelor's degrees from Colorado State University, and is a graduate of University Medical Center's Paramedic Program. He has been an instructor of Emergency Medical Service (EMS) topics for both CCFD and the Community College of Southern Nevada.

He is a founding member and active participant of the Southern Nevada Unified Command's Type III Incident Management Team where he serves as an Incident Commander and Operations Section Chief.